Dear Readers/ Research Scholars,

Research is a river of innovative knowledge which flows continuously. New streams of modern inventions come and join the river from time to time and strengthen it. Hence it is our bounded duty to invite the new trends and encourage the activity of research. Keeping in view this responsibility, IJISMR is extending its cooperation to all the manifold directions of research. I humbly request the research scholars to utilize this opportunity.

Most of our readers and research scholars are of the idea to make IJSIMR a monthly journal. Even though it is not an easy task to run a monthly journal, in order to accept the humble request of our beloved readers, we are making our journal a monthly one from this issue. It is the equal responsibility of our readers and research scholars also to make this attempt a successful one.
